Welcome our New CEO Ellen Heinz

Ellen Heinz, M.Ed., OhioCED
President & CEO

It is an honor and pleasure to write this message! As I reflect on the process of arriving here, I want to thank everyone involved for this amazing opportunity!

THANK YOU – CHAMBER MEMBERS – for your commitment to our organization and to significantly impacting our community in all you do!!

Although I only have a few days under my belt, I have been impressed by the Chamber team's passion for their work and commitment to excellence. When it was announced that I would be the new CEO/President, many former colleagues and friends reached out to welcome me and commented that I would be working with a great team. I'm so thankful to the Chamber team - for their hard work, creativity, and drive to support the Chamber, our membership, and the amazing 'family of communities' we serve in the Richland County area!

My first 90 days will focus on learning internal processes and systems as well as meeting with the Chamber staff, political leadership, board members, partner organizations, and key team members at the Chamber, RCDG, and the Education Foundation.

The Richland Area Chamber has an incredible history! In the upcoming year, we will focus on maintaining important traditions while partnering it with increased innovation.

Thanks to great past leaders like Mayor Jodie Perry, our boards, the internal team members, and area leadership, we are all poised and ready to build on the success of the past and elevate our goals to the next level!

I am so thankful for those I have already connected with who have extended a warm welcome! To those I haven't met yet, I look forward to meeting you and supporting the organization and regions mission and goals!

As I close these messages, I'll share with you something that was shared with me. One of my dear friends gave me the book "Coffee Bean" – it is a short read and I appreciated the message of how we have the opportunity to positively impact our environment – work, home or otherwise. I hope you read it and enjoy it as much as I did!

Wishing you safety, success and joy,

Ellen Heinz

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION HEARINGS: NAVIGATING CONTINUANCE REQUESTS

If you're an employer dealing with a workers' compensation claim, you may face an Industrial Commission (IC) hearing. These hearings, addressing contested matters, occur at one of the 12 IC offices statewide, often near the injured worker's residence. Sometimes, circumstances require a hearing postponement.

Understanding Continuance Requests:

Good Cause Requests:

- These must be submitted at least five calendar days before the hearing date.
- They usually stem from unavoidable scheduling conflicts that cannot be adjusted.
- Supporting evidence, such as company statements or travel documents, can bolster the request's validity.

Extraordinary Circumstances:

- These involve unexpected events like sudden illness, hospitalization, or family emergencies.
- Requests based on such circumstances can be made up to the day of the hearing.

Request Process:

- To initiate a continuance request, employers can either complete a form on the Industrial Commission's website or fax it directly to the relevant IC office.
- Local Hearing Administrators evaluate requests based on predefined standards of "good cause" or "extraordinary circumstance."

Assistance Available:

- Sedgwick's claims team is ready to assist employers in filing continuance requests and ensuring adherence to IC protocols.

For any inquiries or support needed, reach out to Sedgwick's program manager, Paul Feck, at paul.feck@sedgwick.com.

MARCH SPONSOR

Congrats to the Young Leaders Institute Class of 2024. This group of 34 high school sophomores representing every school district in Richland County graduated from the program in March.

Miriam Morgenstern, of Spherion Mid Ohio, led the session Me Inc. about the skills and preparation to land a job.

Students discussed the leadership practice of encouraging the heart and completed a gratitude activity.

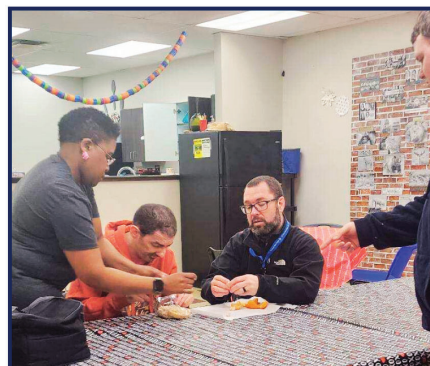

Students from different schools worked in groups to create a capstone project on the Sterkel Community Park for All. Each group researched and prepared a plan to attract visitors to the park and presented them to a group of decision-makers.

The Richland County Foundation talked with students about aspects of the community they would like to see in 2030 and beyond.

Program Day Sponsor

WAREHOUSE SAFETY: ADDRESSING RISKS AND ENHANCING WORKPLACE SAFETY

In the midst of the warehouse industry's rapid expansion, safeguarding the well-being of employees stands as a paramount concern. With heightened operational activity, the prevalence of workplace hazards increases, necessitating a proactive approach to risk mitigation. By diligently identifying and effectively addressing potential dangers, employers not only create a secure environment but also prioritize the safety and welfare of their workforce. This commitment not only aligns with regulatory standards but also fosters a culture of safety that underpins operational efficiency and employee satisfaction.

Identifying Warehouse Hazards:

Warehouse environments present various hazards, including powered industrial vehicles (PIVs), slips, trips, blocked aisles, heat, and ergonomics. These hazards, if not addressed, can lead to an increase in employee injuries.

Addressing Hazards:

Implementing solutions to mitigate these hazards is imperative. Measures such as proper training for PIV operators, maintaining clear access to emergency equipment and exits, implementing heat safety protocols, and promoting ergonomic best practices are essential.

Promoting Warehouse Safety:

Employers can foster a culture of safety by prioritizing comprehensive training, proactive hazard identification, and regular review and update of safety protocols. These proactive measures can help prevent accidents and injuries in the workplace.

OSHA's Focus on Warehouse Safety:

Warehouse safety is a National Emphasis Program (NEP) for OSHA, signaling its commitment to regulatory enforcement and compliance efforts in this area. OSHA's prioritization underscores the importance of addressing warehouse hazards to ensure a safe working environment.

Questions:

For further assistance or information on OSHA's focus on warehouse safety, employers can contact Andy Sawan, Risk Services Specialist at Sedgwick, at andrew.sawan@sedgwick.com or 330-819-4728.

Mansfield Rising 2.0 at SXSW: Unveiling the power of community transformation

By Sandy Messner
Director of Marketing & Communications

My SXSW experience was a testament to the power of community and the transformative potential of collective action. As I shared the story of our Mansfield team's journey to SXSW, I felt a surge of excitement in the genuine interest and support from fellow attendees. Our mission isn't just about personal or professional growth; it's about revitalizing our community and fostering a sense of belonging.

Throughout the conference, I encountered diverse topics, each emphasizing the importance of collaboration and community engagement. From discussions about finding extraterrestrial life to the imperative of active participation in democracy, one common thread emerged: the indispensable role of community in driving positive change.

In sessions like "Community is the Future of Public Safety," the focus shifted to addressing pressing issues like community violence. Speakers like Jamila Hodge, Greg Jackson, and Lisa Daniels advocated for community-led approaches, restorative justice, and trauma-informed interventions. Their stories underscored the transformative power of community understanding and proactive intervention in preventing violence.

Furthermore, discussions about loneliness highlighted the need for personal connections and meaningful interactions within our communities. As technology continues to shape our lives, responsible use and prioritizing human connection over screen time are essential.

As I continue to absorb insights and knowledge from SXSW, I'm reminded that transformation isn't just possible—it's inevitable when individuals within communities come together with shared purpose and determination. I look forward to harnessing the power of community to drive positive change and create a brighter future for all.
